DISTRIBUTION OF THE AGRICULTURAL EXPORTS OF THE UNITED STATES, 1896-1900.

INTRODUCTION.

The object of the present bulletin is to continue and bring down to date the statistics published two years ago in a similar report[1] covering the five-year period 1894–1898.

AGRICULTURAL EXPORTS, BY COUNTRIES.

There were a dozen countries in 1900 to each of which the United States exported over $10,000,000 worth of domestic farm produce. Chief among these countries were the United Kingdom and Germany, the former purchasing to the value of $408,000,000 and the latter to the value of $134,000,000.

Our agricultural exports to the United Kingdom were the largest on record, excepting those of the extraordinary year 1898, when a value of $439,000,000 was attained. In our trade with Germany the exports for 1900 were decidedly in excess of any previously reported. Compared with the shipments for 1896, five years ago, which were valued at less than $72,000,000, they show an increase of nearly 100 per cent.

After the United Kingdom and Germany, the principal foreign market for American farm produce in 1900 was that afforded by the Netherlands, to which country exports valued at $52,000,000 were sent. These figures were exceeded only in 1899, and then by less than $1,000,000. As contrasted with the record for 1896, amounting to $21,000,000, they exhibit a striking gain.

France ranked fourth in importance, and Belgium fifth, among our foreign markets in 1900, the former country receiving agricultural exports to the value of $45,000,000 and the latter to the value of $33,000,000. In comparison with the trade of 1896 our exportations to each of these destinations displayed an important growth, the shipments to France during that year having a value of only $31,000,000 and those to Belgium a value of little more than $18,000,000. Our exports, both to France and to Belgium, however, attained a higher value in 1898 than in either of the succeeding years, the record for the former country being $75,000,000 and that for the latter $37,000,000.

Italy was the sixth country in rank, the products of United States agriculture marketed there during 1900 having a value of $24,000,000. Each of the past four years has witnessed a considerable gain in our exports to that country. In 1896 they were valued at less than $15,000,000.

After these six European countries Canada was our principal customer, purchasing to the extent of $21,000,000. The agricultural exports to Canada advanced in value from $20,000,000 during 1896 to $32,000,000 in 1898, and then declined to the figures just quoted for 1900.

Japan furnished a market in 1900 for over $15,000,000 worth of American farm produce. The exports to that country afford one of the most interesting examples of growth in our recent export trade. During 1896 the shipments barely exceeded $2,000,000 in value. Subsequent years have shown in every instance a decided gain.

Agricultural exports worth nearly $15,000,000 were also marketed in Denmark during 1900, that country furnishing another striking instance of trade development. In 1896 the exports to Denmark were valued at about $5,000,000, or little more than a third of the value recorded for 1900.

Cuba was the tenth in importance among the destinations under consideration. The amount of United States farm produce sent to that island has greatly increased during the past five years. In 1896 the exports were at low ebb, having a value of less than $4,000,000. Since then important gains have been made each year, culminating in a value of about $14,000,000 for 1900.

Products of American agriculture were marketed in Spain during 1900 to the value of $10,500,000, these figures showing a slight increase over the exports for 1896, which amounted to a trifle less than $10,000,000. In the three years following 1896 a considerable decline occurred, but the lost trade was more than recovered during 1900.

Another country that in 1900 purchased over $10,000,000 worth of American farm products was British Africa, the exports to that destination having a value of $10,300,000, or nearly double the value reported in 1896, which was only $5,300,000. Although there was a continuous increase throughout the five-year period 1896–1900, the largest gain took place in the last of these years.

After the twelve leading countries mentioned, the most important destinations in our agricultural export trade for 1900, with the value recorded in each case, were: Sweden and Norway, $5,515,000; Hongkong, $5,404,000; the British West Indies, $5,224,000; Portugal, $4,905,000; Mexico, $4,572,000; Brazil, $4,393,000; Austria-Hungary, $3,508,000; European Russia, $3,215,000; Hawaii, $2,846,000; Porto Rico, $2,311,000; British Australasia, $2,086,000; and the Philippine Islands, $1,657,000.

Our total exports of domestic farm produce to Cuba, Porto Rico, Hawaii, and the Philippine Islands in 1900 had an aggregate value of over $20,000,000 as compared with only $6,269,000 in 1896. The gain in these exports during the past five years exceeded 200 per cent.

Other destinations to which the United States sent agricultural exports in 1900, having a value in excess of $1,000,000, were British Guiana, Haiti, Venezuela, the French West Indies, Newfoundland and Labrador, and the Chinese Empire.

From the statistics given above it appears that South America was the only continent to which our agricultural exports for the past five years show a decline. The shipments to South American countries during 1900 had a value of only $9,452,000, as against $11,236,000 in 1896.

The most striking gain disclosed by the figures of 1896–1900 was that exhibited in our exports to Asia. The value of the agricultural produce sent to Asiatic countries rose from $5,735,000 in 1896 to nearly $23,000,000 in 1900, the latter amount far exceeding any previous record. Since 1896 the exports have advanced almost fourfold in value. The increase of 1900 over 1899 was particularly marked, amounting to more than $6,000,000.

There was also an interesting gain in our agricultural export trade with Oceania, our shipments to the various islands comprised under that term amounting in 1900 to $6,799,000, as compared with only $3,986,000 in 1896. The figures returned for 1900 were the highest ever recorded.

The principal part of our agricultural exports during 1900, as in previous years, found a market in Europe. Our sales to European countries for that year had an aggregate value of $739,000,000. With the exception of the phenomenal year 1898, when our agricultural exports to Europe reached a value of $762,000,000, these figures are the largest on record. Compared with the value for 1896, amounting to $503,000,000, they show an enormous gain.

To the various countries of North America the United States exported agricultural products in 1900 having a value of $55,000,000, or considerably less than the record for 1899, which amounted to $58,000,000. The exports distributed among North American countries rose in value from $44,000,000 in 1896 to the figures just quoted for 1899, and then fell off, as described, in 1900.

Our agricultural exports to Africa, like those to Asia and to Oceania, reached in 1900 the highest value ever recorded. The shipments to African countries in that year were valued at $11,496,000, or slightly more than double the value for 1896, which amounted to only $5,735,000.

AGRICULTURAL EXPORTS, BY PRINCIPAL GROUPS.

The ten principal items in our agricultural export trade for 1900, named in the order of their value, were as follows: Breadstuffs, cotton, meat products, live animals, tobacco, oil cake and oil-cake meal, vegetable oils, fruits and nuts, dairy products, and seeds.

In the following table statistics are presented to show the value of these leading items for each of the five years 1896–1900:

BREADSTUFFS.

About one-half of our entire export trade in breadstuffs during 1900 was carried on with the United Kingdom, the shipments to that country having a total value of $135,375,000. Next to the United Kingdom, Germany was our largest customer, receiving consignments to the value of $32,129,000. To the Netherlands we sent exports worth $25,275,000, to Belgium $14,135,000, and to Denmark $8,599,000. Canada was another important purchaser, buying to the extent of $7,421,000. France took $4,380,000 worth, Hongkong $4,227,000 worth, and Portugal $4,133,000 worth. British Africa purchased to the extent of $3,190,000, and the British West Indies to the extent of $3,117,000. Cuba also furnished a market of considerable importance, taking shipments worth $2,915,000. Our exports to Brazil, although much smaller than in previous years, had a value of $2,595,000. The only other destinations to which we sent exports of this kind worth over $1,000,000 in 1900 were Japan, Sweden and Norway, Hawaii, and Porto Rico.

COTTON.

Of the raw cotton exported from the United States during 1900, $90,260,000 worth found a market in the United Kingdom, $64,395,000 worth in Germany, and $27,776,000 worth in France. Large shipments were also made to Italy, the exports to that country having a value of $17,463,000. After the four European countries mentioned, Japan was the most important customer, receiving consignments to the value of $12,713,000. Spain made purchases worth $9,621,000, and Belgium purchases worth $5,732,000. To Canada there were exports valued at $4,236,000, to the Netherlands $2,845,000, and to European Russia $2,258,000. Austria-Hungary and Denmark were the only other destinations to which exports valued above $1,000,000 were sent, the consignments to the former country having a value of $1,759,000, while those to Denmark were valued at $1,251,000.

MEAT PRODUCTS.

The United Kingdom is decidedly the heaviest purchaser of American meat products. Our exports to the British market in 1900 were exceptionally large, having a total value of $107,621,000. Aside from the United Kingdom, Germany and the Netherlands were the leading foreign buyers, the former country receiving consignments worth $20,195,000 and the latter consignments worth $13,496,000. Belgium ranked fourth among the countries of destination, taking shipments to the value of $5,562,000. Cuba followed in importance, the exports to that island having a value of $4,664,000. France made purchases worth $3,776,000, and Sweden and Norway purchases worth $3,154,000. Other countries to which we sent exports exceeding $1,000,000 in value were British Africa, Denmark, Canada, Italy, the British West Indies, and Brazil.

LIVE ANIMALS.

The live animals exported from the United States go chiefly to the United Kingdom. In 1900 that country was the destination of exports worth $32,708,000. Our next largest shipments for the year mentioned went to British Africa, where consignments to the value of $3,761,000 were marketed. Cuba furnished a market for shipments worth $2,984,000. The only other country to which there were exports worth over $1,000,000 was Canada, the shipments to that destination having a value of $1,307,000.

TOBACCO.

The United Kingdom, Germany, Italy, and France were the principal destinations of the tobacco exported from the United States in 1900. Our shipments to the United Kingdom during that year were valued at $10,962,000. Germany received consignments to the value of $5,056,000. To Italy we sent exports worth $3,666,000, and to France exports worth $2,999,000. Belgium and the Netherlands also purchased quite heavily, the former country buying to the value of $1,469,000 and the latter to the value of $1,381,000. Of the remaining destinations Canada was the most important, taking shipments worth $960,000.

OIL CAKE AND OIL-CAKE MEAL.

Our exports of oil cake and oil-cake meal in 1900 went chiefly to five European countries—the United Kingdom, Germany, Denmark, the Netherlands, and Belgium. The shipments to the United Kingdom were valued at $4,319,000 and those to Germany at $4,009,000. Denmark made purchases worth $2,654,000 and the Netherlands purchases worth $2,650,000. The exports to Belgium had a value of $2,314,000. After these leading destinations France was the largest purchaser, our shipments to that country amounting in value to $657,000.

VEGETABLE OILS.

France afforded the principal market for our exports of vegetable oils in 1900, the consignments sent to that country having a value of $4,103,000. The next largest exports were sent to the Netherlands, where shipments worth $2,987,000 were marketed. Germany made purchases worth $1,555,000 and Austria-Hungary purchases worth $1,450,000. DAIRY PRODUCTS.

The United Kingdom received the largest share of the dairy products shipped from the United States in 1900. Our consignments to the British market for that year had a value of $6,526,000. Aside from the United Kingdom, the most important purchasers were Canada and Cuba, our shipments to the former destination being valued at $591,000 and those to Cuba at $530,000. Other markets of considerable importance were found in Brazil, the British West Indies, Hawaii, Japan, and Venezuela.

DISTRIBUTION OF AGRICULTURAL EXPORTS, IN DETAIL.

The tables presented on the following pages embrace all the agricultural exports of the United States for the fiscal years 1896–1900, showing in the case of each article the extent of the shipments sent to the several countries of destination. For convenience in classification the articles are divided into two groups, consisting, respectively, of animal matter and vegetable matter. The tables are arranged in two series, the first relating to the values and the second to the quantities of the articles exported. To facilitate comparison cross references are given from each table of values to the corresponding table of quantities, and vice versa. In some cases, however, values only are given, no returns being made as to quantity. An index to the articles covered by the tables is printed on pages 179–182. The tables are as follows:

Value of the agricultural exports of the United States (animal matter), by articles and countries, during the five fiscal years 1896–1900.
